

Investigators Are Breaking Domestic Infidelity Cases with EasyTracGPS' ComTrac "Covert Pro"

EasyTracGPS, Inc is a leading provider of GPS tracking and fleet management systems for businesses and consumers worldwide. Private investigators are using their ComTrac "Covert Pro" GPS vehicle tracking system to assist in domestic infidelity, divorce, and custody cases.

CHICAGO, IL, May 25, 2012 – The current economic climate has resulted in many a stressful home life. A trend in domestic cases is always an unfortunate byproduct of a tough economic situation. Consumers are seeking private investigators who are thrifty and who are using technology to help stretch a buck. Investigators continue to turn to EasyTracGPS and their ComTrac "Covert Pro" to help stretch client retainers and improve surveillance results.

A wireless magnetic vehicle tracking device, the ComTrac "Covert Pro" offers live 10 second position updates, robust alerts and reports, historical playback of daily movements, and the convenience of extended battery life. It substitutes for costly manpower in the field and eliminates the need for close-quarter vehicle surveillance.

"At one point, covert vehicle tracking devices lagged far behind the rest of the industry. The technological advances just weren't on par with their fleet tracking counterparts," explained Daniel Villalobos, Director of Sales & Marketing with EasyTracGPS. "In the past, investigators who were trying to be early-adopters of the technology were forced to use devices that weren't designed for covert tracking applications, such as trailer tracking devices, etc. They were big, and the tracking systems were only offering passive 5 or 10 minute tracking updates to the investigator".

"In covert vehicle tracking 5 or 10 minutes is a lifetime but, that was all that could be offered since anything faster would have drained the older batteries much too quickly," stated Bob Munoz, one of EasyTracGPS' Covert Tracking Specialists. "We're very proud of the ComTrac "Covert Pro". It's small; it offers live 10 second position updates, flexible mapping, reporting, and alert options, and has a long battery life in the field".

EasyTracGPS' ComTrac™ line of GPS tracking systems are pioneering vehicle fleet and asset management, covert vehicle tracking, emergency and responder personnel tracking, and family GPS tracking. Their systems and solutions yield improved surveillance and positive results for investigative clients worldwide. For additional information, visit www.easytracgps.com.
